Exceeding the Standard of German Shepherd Excellence

Our German Shepherds are sought after for competition, search and rescue services and most important, family companions. The number one goal with our breeding program is breeding for family companions. When a German Shepherd puppy is chosen for a family companion, it must be bred with a solid nerve, courage, adaptability, intelligence, and instinctive protection skills. We have four children and our proud of the temperament and intelligence of our dogs and understand the importance of solid intelligence when it comes to the German Shepherd breed. We encourage all potential German Shepherd puppy buyers to schedule an appointment to come out and visit with us and see what well bred bloodlines means to a German Shepherd dog.
