The German Shepherd Dog is alert, incorruptible, loyal, courageous, loves children and is wary of strangers. It's an excellent dog for a job that uses his strengths and supports for such purposes was cultured. We meet him as a police dog, guard, rescue, Braille, sporting, herding and if he will create favorable conditions as "just" a family member. If you are deciding what dog to get, objectively assess their options. Consider that for a large dog you have enough space. Keep in mind that working breeds, which include the German Shepherd, they need lots of exercise and a job. The shepherd can not make a dog room. For large dogs is also important to consider the cost of feeding and veterinary care. Every puppy that meets the environmental conditions, must have a pedigree and a tattoo in the ear. If you breeder offers you a puppy without pedigree, do not be fooled by the statement that it had seven and U puppy without pedigree never know what it will grow (parents do not have the certificate of origin could be excluded from breeding to birth defects, health problems, etc.) .When choosing a dog do not be afraid to ask the experienced breeders and training on canine club in your area. Then your new family member am happy with you and you with him. All content of this listing belongs to the Owner in this Listing! Copyright © All Rights Reserved.
