In addition to obesity and health concerns, many experts say that lack of exercise is a leading cause of hyperactive and destructive behavior in dogs. As the owner of three beloved Pit Bull dogs, I'm always looking for ways to keep them well exercised. My busy schedule doesn't allow for the long walks recommended by professional dog behaviorists. I read about something called a flirt pole and thought it would be worth trying out. It works by converting the natural prey drive instinct in dogs into exercise as they attempt to catch the lure by sprinting, changing direction, and jumping. So I bought one of the fiberglass rod flirt poles that are made in China. The good news is the dogs went crazy chasing the lure. The bad news is it lasted one day. One chomp on the tip of the rod and the fiberglass broke and splintered in my dog's mouth. I was angry and decided to design my own. Our patent pending Flirt Poles are made in the USA using components tested for durability, strength, safety and light weight. The only toy on the market that uses bungee cord to prevent "whiplash" when lure is caught. Easily change lures without the use of fasteners that can injure your dog's mouth. Lightweight. The Flirt Pole with the included lure weighs less than one pound. Soft, non-slip grip and wrist strap for easy handling.
