UK German Shepherd Dog Breeder in the south of England .. Puppies for sale Surrey.

German Shepherd Dog Breeder We are often asked by our puppy customers if my pups will protect them when they are adults. Our answer to this is: "We can give you a dog with the correct genetic make up to do this work, what you do with him after you get him determines if he will protect you." We compare this to David Beckham(the Football player). When his son is 20 years old will he be able to play for Man U ? The answer is NO - not unless he has been trained as a young boy. He certainly has the genetic makeup to play ball - but unless he is trained and his natural drives are developed into basic skills he will never play professional ball. The same goes for puppies. We can give you a pup with the right genetic make up, but this is a 2 part deal and it's what you do with the pup that determines his destiny. Without drive development and later training you just end up with a "nice pet."We will guarantee one thing though: unless you start a pup with the right genetic background you will never get a protection dog.
